

Intern, Media Studies

SNL Kagan is the single source for in-depth analysis and proprietary data on the constantly-evolving media and communications business. This group is currently seeking a summer intern to assist with media and financial research.

During your ten weeks at S&P Global Market Intelligence, you will work to continue building a TV program database, expand and improve our coverage on cable providers' operating metrics, work with international analysts to build a European sports rights database and assist research analysts with various ad-hoc projects. You will also be responsible for helping to create presentations to be shared with cross-functional teams, stakeholders and senior management. If you are looking to pursue a career in media/communications, if you are detail-oriented with strong research skills, and if you want to be a part of a premiere, global, and expanding financial information provider, we hope that you would apply.

Ideal candidates will have intermediate to advanced proficiency in MS Excel and MS PowerPoint, an analytical way of thinking and strong written and oral communication skills.

If you're interested in joining our dynamic team, you can apply for this position by sending your resume and cover letter to Meghan Sarver at msarver@snl.com.

SNL Kagan is the ultimate resource for complete financial intelligence on the broad and dynamic media & communications sector, including the broadcast, cable, television, motion picture, telecom, wireless, satellite, and new media industries.
